

COLLECTING YOUR BEAUTIFUL STUFF

*Curiosity and wonder lead us to new discoveries about ourselves
Listening and speaking helps us explore, share and develop our ideas
Language and stories can be a source of creativity and joy*

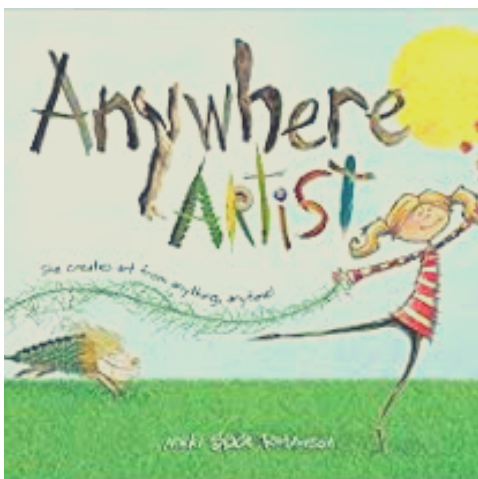

GATHER MATERIALS

- Look around your home for small objects that you think are interesting and not being used (like recycling or left over craft supplies). These things will become your Beautiful Stuff Collection which we will use over and over again to tell stories and more (see counting collections math activity 1).
- Some ideas for your collections can be : beads, buttons, costume jewelry, broken jewelry, ribbons, yarn, feathers, metal and plastic things, corks and bottle caps, lids from jars or felt pens, old keys, screws and bolts, string, wire, twist-ties, shells, clothespins, etc.
- Go on walk with your family to collect Beautiful Stuff from Nature such as fallen acorns, maple seed pods, leaves, rocks, or sticks.
- Sort your collection of Beautiful Stuff, and think about how you might store them and keep them organized.

LISTEN & IMAGINE

- Listen to Hanna's Collections
- Listen to The Button Box
- Watch a group of children collecting stuff outside
- Now imagine what beautiful stuff you can collect from around your home or neighbourhood.

GO BEYOND

- Listen to Anywhere Artist. Create art anywhere! What kind of artist are you? Are you a forest artist?
- Describe your creations. Try using alliterations like, "lacey leaves" or "salty shells".
