

Grade Level: K - 1

Curriculum: Explorations, ADST

Title of Lesson: Let's Help Mr. Bigfoot!

Learning Goals/Objectives:

- Skills can be developed through play.
- Designs grow out of natural curiosity.

Materials Needed:

- Pencil and paper
- Colouring supplies

Activity Instructions: (Step by Step)

- Begin by watching, or reading along with the story "Mr. Biggs in the City" by Kevin Bloomfield. Click THIS LINK to get to Tumblebooks, and search for the title.
- As you read, pay attention to the illustrations. Does it seem like the Bigfoot is able to have fun using the things meant for the people in the city?
 - Why is he having so much trouble?
- Once you've finished reading the book, choose one of the illustrations of the bigfoot struggling to do something.
 - Start by drawing a picture of the bigfoot trying to use the item!
 - Flip over your page. Think about how we might be able to help Bigfoot be more successful
 - This solution could be a variety of things:
 - Could a friend or two be able to help the Bigfoot?
 - Could we make the thing that Bigfoot is using stronger, so that it doesn't break?
 - Could we make the item larger?
 - Choose one of your ideas to help solve Mr Bigfoot's problem and re-draw your picture to show Mr. Bigfoot having fun! Remember to colour in your drawing!

Extensions (Optional):

- Choose another illustration and repeat the activity to help Mr. Bigfoot have more fun!
